INNOVATIVE AND CREATIVE MINDS CLUB

Association Report

Date: 23-03-2024

Innovative and Creative Minds (ICM), a student association of CSM, Organized weekly association on 23-03-2024.

Year: II

Semester: 4

Event: Debate

No. of Participants: 41

Event Description: Participants are expected to present their arguments clearly and logically. This involves stating their position on the topic, providing evidence to support their viewpoint, and explaining their reasoning. This allows them to challenge the validity of their opponent's points and reinforce their own position. Overall, the goal of conducting this debate is to provide a forum for reasoned discussion and critical thinking on a particular topic, with the aim of persuading the audience of the validity of one's viewpoint. And they have been given to choose the topics from below.

Topics for Debate:

- Is online education as effective as traditional classroom learning?
- Is it better to specialize in one field or have a broad range of knowledge in engineering?
- Should college tuition fees be based on income levels?
- Should internships be mandatory for engineering students?

Event Outcome: Following the Debate event, participants often express a sense of accomplishment and intellectual growth. Engaging in rigorous preparation and passionate discourse, students develop critical thinking skills, public speaking abilities, and the capacity to articulate their viewpoints effectively. Moreover, the event fosters mutual respect and understanding among participants, encouraging open-mindedness and appreciation for diverse perspectives. Overall, the Debate event leaves students feeling empowered, inspired, and better equipped to engage in constructive dialogue on complex issues both within and beyond the academic realm.
